On July 13, 2022, Deutsche Telekom agreed to sell a 51.0 % stake in GD Towers, comprising its tower assets in Germany and Austria, currently assigned to the Group Development operating segment (GD tower companies), to DigitalBridge and Brookfield. Since the third quarter of 2022 the GD Towers business unit has been reported in the interim consolidated financial statements as a discontinued operation within the meaning of IFRS 5 (consolidated view). On the other hand we continue to present the earnings situation in the interim group management report from a management perspective, including the discontinued GD Towers units (management view). Upon completion of the transaction on 1 February 2023, Deutsche Telekom lost control over the GD Tower companies.

Effective as of Q3/2022 we have integrated the Deutsche Telekom Security GmbH and the security business in Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Hungary and Slovakia previously included in the Systems Solutions operating segment, into the operating segment Germany. Comparative figures have been adjusted retrospectively.

Against the background of the agenda decision of the IFRS Interpretations Committee published in May 2022 on cases of software reselling, Deutsche Telekom has extensively revised its previous accounting practice with regard to the distinction between gross and net revenue and changed it at the beginning of the third quarter of 2022. The change in method means that Deutsche Telekom only sees itself as the principal and thus recognizes gross revenue in cases where the end customer does not enter into any contractual relationship with the third-party supplier and Deutsche Telekom is primarily responsible for product acceptance and customer support. Compared to the previous accounting, this leads to a decrease in revenues and expenses in the segments Germany, US, Europe and Systems Solutions.

The figures shown in this report were rounded in accordance with standard business rounding principles. As a result, the total indicated may not be equal to the precise sum of the individual figures.

LIFE IS FOR SHARING.
